Holmes from home

YOU don't have to be a detective to guess American Harold Niver's hero. He's nuts about Sherlock Holmes.

Harold can be tracked down in Rocky Hill, Connecticut. When he isn't selling pianos for a living, you'll find him dressed exactly like his idol. And his house—

Baskerville Hall—is Holmes sweet home.

Harold, 46, has a collection of 2,800 bits and pieces associated with Conan Doyle's legendary detective, including six m.p.s. paintings, statues and revolvers.

Happily, Harold's 34-year-old wife Teddy shares his enthusiasm and wears Victorian gowns.

Their pet—a British bulldog, of course—is called Dr. Thorneycroft Huxtable, another Doyle character.

Why the passion for Holmes? "Elementary, my dear," replied Harold. "He was a superman."
